A revelation is when you realize something about yourself, someone else, or the world. In a story, revelations shape the emotional plot, it's emotional or psychological trajectory, and throughout a novel or memoir, a character has a series of revelations that shape her moral journey. The climax is often the biggest revelation of all.

Why Your Character Needs a Revelation

In Revelation, John finishes what Luke set out to do in Acts. In the Evangelist's history, he indicated that what motivated him to write his Gospel was his desire to preserve all that “Jesus began both to do and to teach” (Acts 1:1). The key word here is began. The Gospel of Luke is the story of what Jesus began to do.
